

Jenovefa "Jenny" Knoop, 73, Durham, died 03-27-2020 after a long dementia illness. The farm in Oxford has long been sold. ERUUF recently had a memorial service for her, when I first learned of her death. She became a Unitarian Universalist minister, was an excellent musician and composer and social activist, and spent several years ministering to the dying by way of hospice programs. She lost his husband Joe Pfister, the former minister and accupuncture therapist, in July of 2013, which I also didn't know about. I knew Jenny and Joe in the 1990s when she was working at ERUUF for a few years, and during this time her adult daughter was murdered by her boyfriend.
